Nadine Meisel recently worked with us, a senior management team, in a workshop setting to develop solutions for our specific business topics. She intensively familiarized with our future innovation needs. And thus drove the quality of our discussion to a refreshing level. Nadine's Lateral Shortcuts approach allowed us to reframe several challenges we were facing. It was impressive how efficient and productive this workshop was from the first to the last minute. We rapidly came up with new ideas. And immediately made even more use of them by building upon them for intermediate results and beyond. The lateral thinking techniques Nadine applies are both inspiring and time efficient. Many of the results were even surprising to us. I thank Nadine for this exciting team experience and would be glad to work together with her again.
